IN MEMORY OF RAYMOND BELMONT. BISHOP BROOKS CONSECRATES A HANDSOME

CHAPEL GIVEN TO ST. MARK'S SCHOOL BY AUGUST BELMONT, JR.

Boston, Oct. 21 (Special).-The first edifice conse crated by Rishop Phillips Brooks was the new chapel connected with St. Mark's School in Southborough. This chapel was the gift of August Belmont, jr., of New-York, in memory of Raymond Belmont, his brother, who was a graduate of St. Mark's School and had received the founder's prize medal. The structure is of brick and red sandstone, accommodates 150 person and cost, with its handsome dark oak furnishings, partly finished in gold, more than $20,000.

The service of the consecration began at 10 o'clock this morning. Eishop Brooks was assisted in the service of the holy communion by the Rev. Drs. Converse, of Boston, and Chambre, of Lowell. The sentence of consecration was read by the Rev. Dr. T. Pynchon, ex-president of Trinity College, Hartford The rector of St. Mark's, the Rev. Waldo Burnett, was assisted in morning prayer by the Rev. Dr. Millett, of Philadelphia; the Rev. S. O. Scherman, of Jamaica Plains, and the Rev. C. Dupe. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. E. W. NOTES IN THE FIELD OF LABOR.

The Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor is considering the advisability of compelling the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to pay its employes every weezs instead of monthly, as at present. It has practically been decided to engage counsel and carry the case courts. It has also been decided to prosecute the State officials of Nebraska for compelling workingmen on State work to labor more than eight hours a day.

It is probable that within a few weeks 25,000 skilled workingmen will join the American Federation of Labor in a body. At the annual convention of the liricklayers and Masons' Union in Toronto the advisability of joining the American Federation of Labor was talked over, and it was at last decided to leave it to a majority vote of the local unions. If these unions vote in favor of the proposition, it will have a great influence on the labor movement, especially in this city, and on building operations, on account of the conservative policy of the Federation.

NAILING A CONTEMPTIBLE LIE. RAILWAY EMPLOYES RISE TO PROTEST AGAINST

DISHWATER METHODS. Vicious and unprincipled as most of the stories are which are sent out by the managers of the Democratic Bureau of Fiction, few of them are worthy of notice, One has been forced into particular prominence. tells the old campaign lie, which has been refuted time and agein, that Mr. Fassett said that Michael Richard, a member of the Board of Railroad Com missioners of the State, was a "greasy throttle-jerker." This seems to be poor material to be used in influence ing the minds of the railroad men of this State. most complete and convincing dental of this story is made in the following statement and affidavits: To Our Brother Railway Employes of the State of New

In the interest of fair play and justice we approach you, knowing from our long connection with you that our appeal for justice will not be nade in vain. When a political party, to elect their candidate, tries to ug us through the mire of gutter politics, or make of us a vab to clean their guns, it is time we arise in our might and show them our independence and neutrality in politics. We point with pride to our united efforts, regardless of political opinions, in assisting to a place of honor and trust

The Democratic managers of this campaign are sending out circulars to rallway employes for the purpose of influ encing us to cast our votes for a particular candidate, on the reported statement of our representative on the Board of Railroad Commissioners that the term 'Greasy Throttle-Jerker' was used by the Hon. J. Sloat Passett, pending the confirmation of said repr sentative as Rail and Commissioner at Albany in the spring of 1887. Should Mr. Michael Rickand forget that it is to both the Republican and Democratic members of the B. of L. E., and not to those of one party alone, he owes his appointment, we would have him look back to the convention that selected him as our standardbearer, and say whether he was asked to support the est of his constituents on the Board of Rallroad Commission ers and see that justice, and that only, was done the train

All we ask is for Mr. Rickard to make a statement to the public as he has repeatedly done in private (as the sworn statement of a number of our brothers, which companies this will show), that he is positive that the Hon. J. Sloat Fassett never made use of the words, as in his (Rickard's) estimation "he was too much of a gentle man." To our positive knowledge Mr. Rickard has made this manly confession in Hornelisville, Corning, Elmire

We condemn the policy of the Democratic managers in sending anonymous circulars through the mail, not daring o sign their names to the same, for the purpose of arraign ing brother against brother, and let it be distinctly under stood that there is manliness in politics as well as in everything else, and until further proof, we will denounce as false the contents of that anonymous circular. J. S. Fassett, who was at that time a candidate for State Senator. He addressed from seventy-five to hundred engineers at this meeting. During his remarks, I, Henry P. Forsman, interrupted him and asked him this question: "Do you believe, sir, that Scnator Fassett ever used or applied to you or any one else, the term "gressy throttle jerker!" THE BICYCLE RACE.

The success of the six days' bicycle race at Madiso quare Garden is assured and the successful riders of the steel steeds are sure of being well paid for their

Last night between 8 and 11 o'clock the Garden presented an animated scene and at 10 o'clock one of the largest crowds ever seen since the Garden was remodelled was present. Outside of the boxes about every seat in the vast amphitheatre was taken and a great throng was packed in the rear of the seats,

There was plenty of enthusiasm, too, most of the applause being bestowed upon the short-distance racers and the clever trick riders, Malthy and Canary.

Of the long-distance racers, Martin, the leader, to have become a new man since Tuesday night. He retained his lead through the day and felt so good rest. He was absent for over two hours and half and he only came out when Ashinger and Lamb began to cut down his lead. Martin really looks better than he did twenty-four hours after the race

Lamb, the English coal-miner, is becoming a danger ous element in the ruce and he devours span with alarming rapidity. Lamb sprints regu-larly in spite of his trainer's shouts of dis-He will not allow any of the approval. testants to pass him.

Schock, the German, keeps on his weary way, and he is now bent almost double. He wobbles all over the track, and he is not getting as near the front a his friends would wish. Still the champion's great staying powers will serve him well in the end.

Schock and Ashinger had a collision in the after oon yesterday, and both received ugly falls. Schock was dazed for some time, and Ashinger's wheel was smashed beyond repair.

The most curious accident of the tournament ocurred a few minntes later. Norman Taylor, known as the "Pie-cater" and six-days' pedestrian, attempted to cross the track from the trainers' quarters. He did not see Lamb approaching with terrific speed. Th crowd shouted and then Lamb did a heroic deed, which few men in the position would have thought of. He deliberately hore to the right and threw himself from achine, saving Taylor, but getting a nasty fall himself.

In the short races McDowell defeated O'Flanagan in a five-mile race in 16 minutes and 46 seconds. Robb then defented Howell in a race of like distance in 15 minutes and 23 2-5 seconds. The race between Robb and O'Flanagan resulted in a dead heat, Robb failing to win through overconfidence.

HE HOLDS THE MINE BY FORCE OF ARMS. Denver, Col., Oct. 21 .- A disputch from Albuquer

ne, N. M., to "The Republicas" says: The mining camp of San Pedro, about forty-five miles from this city, is in a state of considerable excitement and fears of bloodshed are entertained. About two weeks ago, S. P. Conger, the discoverer of the rich San Lazarus mine, was in Milwaukee, and attended a meeting of the stockholders of the mine. Observing that they intended ousting him, he pulled a pistol and compelled the members to vote in about the way he wanted. He then started for New-Mexico, but sefore reaching San Pedro the Milwaukee stockholders held another meeting and telegraphed the bookkeeper at the mine to take possession and hold it by force of arms if necessary. When Mr. Conger arrived he was astonished to find a new manager in his place and an armed guard over the mines. He made several threats about taking the lives of the guards, but did not carry them out. Yesterday he forcibly disarmed a guard and with the cocked revolver drove off the book-keeper and his armed force and again took possession of the mine and works.

IN REVENGE FOR A FANCIED WRONG, A RE-PORTER SHOOTS A WOMAN.

Crazed with excessive drinking and with resentment over a fancied wrong, Cassius Morey, a reporter, who once occupied a prominent place in his profession, yes terday made an attempt to murder Annie Ward by shootin gher. The bullet was aimed at the woman's Having, as he believed, killed his victim, Morey turned the revolver on himself and aimed a bullet at his hear The ball glanced upward and lodged in the shoulder.

Morey and the woman occupied rooms in the house kept by Mrs. Annie Pearsnil, at No. 202 West Twenty fourth-st. The Ward woman lived with her husband, clerk in a laundry, in a rear room on the third floor Morey, who has been in the house for the last four weeks, occupied an adjoining apartment. Morey, who was nearly always drunk, never lost an opportunity of insuiting the woman, and she retorted in kind.

About a week ago a girl called Lizzle, to whom Morey was deeply attached, left the house with some of Mrs. Ward's clothing. Morey, it is said, believed that Mrs. Ward had influenced the girl to leave him and his bitter feeling against her was intensified. was shortly after 6 o'clock last night when Mrs. Ward, going upstairs from the supper room, came face to face with Morey on the landing of the first floor Without uttering a word he drew a revolver from his pocket and fired. Mrs. Ward felt the sharp sting of the bullet in her forehead, and wheeling round, ran screaming with fright into the backyard, climbed over a ten-foot fence and got into the house adjoining. Morey darted into the back parior and closed the door Mrs. Pearsall ran into the street calling for a police Officer Kessler, of the Sixteenth Precinct, wen into the house and tried to get into the back parlor The door was held fast on the other side by Morey As the officer slowly drove his way forward ! a pistol shot, followed by a heavy full. The door yielded to his hand and he ran into the room to find Morey lying on the bed bleeding from a wound in the left shoulder.

In the meantime Mrs. Ward was brought back to the house, and then both the man and woman wer taken in an ambulance to the New-York Hospital. Neither is seriously hurt. After the bullet had been extracted Mrs. Ward was able to return home. More will be able to leave the hospital in a few days. Up to five years ago he was employed on the city staff or "The Sun," but recently he has done little else than contribute occasional special articles to the daily papers.

Morey is about forty-five years old, and his acqu nce with Mrs. Pearsall dates back to the old "Tweed ring" days. Mrs. Penrsull then kept a disorderly hou in Crosby-st. Her sister, Mrs. McGraw, had sought a divorce from her husband. Judge Cardozo lad decided that Mrs. McGraw should not have the custody of her little daughter. The mother and child escaped into Canada out of the jurisdiction of the New-York courts. Then Judge Cardozo, who believed that Mrs. Pearsall had added her sister to escape, ordered her arrest for contempt of court and imprisoned her in the Tombs. Henry J. Raymond became interested in her story and fought and won her buttle. Morey, who was then a reporter on "The New-York Times," was put in charge of the case and in that way began a arge of the case and in that way began which has existed ever since.

AMERICAN TIN AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

THE PRESIDENT'S ACKNOWLEDGMENT-THINGS HI CANNOT UNDERSTAND.

Pittsburg, Oct. 21.-Last week W. C. Cro the United States Iron and Steel Tin-Plate Works, at Demmier, Penn., sent to President Harrison a box of tin manufactured at the Demmler works. This morning Mr. Cronemyer received the following letter from President Harrison:

President Harrison:

Executive Mansion. Washington, D. C., Oct. 19, 1891.

W. C. Cronemyer, e.g., Demmler, Ponn.

My Dear Sir: I have your letter of October 15, and also a box of bright the plate, which you send as a specimen of the product being numed out by the United States Iron and Tin-Plate Company. I have no skill in determining the character of this work; but, to the eye, it seems to be eminently satisfactory, and I thank you for this evidence that a new industry has been established in the United States.

I cannot quite understand how any American can doubt that we have the mechanical skill and business sagacity to establish successfully here the manufacture of tin-plate. No other courtry certainty surpasses us in the inventive genus of its eithers or in the business sagacity of its emitted American should approach this question with a desire to see this great and interesting experiment fall, or with an unwillingness to accept the evidences of its success. It will be a great step in the direction of commercial independence when we produce our own the plate.

FOR AN AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE.

MEETING OF THE NORTH ATLANTIC BRANCH OF THE SHIPPING LEAGUE.

Bath, Me., Oct. 21.-The North Atlantic branch of the American Shipping League organized this efening with the following officers: President, F. H. Twitchell; vice-presidents, J. H. Manley, of Augusta; William E. Chandler, of New-Hampshire; Redfield Proctor, William H. Lincoln, of Massachusetts; F. S. Manton of Rhode Island; N. B. Sperry, of Connecticut, C. B. Potter, of New-York; George H. Brewer, of New lersey; H. F. Gause, of Delaware; Andrew Wheeler of Pennsylvania. Ringing letters were read from Will am P. Frye, Eugene Hale and William E. Chandler The memorial of the National Shipping League previously printed, was adopted and ordered printed for distribution and signature. Nelson Dingley spoke eloquently on the present, past and future shipping egislation. The constwise trade was as prosper as any industry of England's home trade, having twice its tonnage, and any other nation having five time its tonnage. Foreign commerce has already decreased since 1840, but there is no decrease in cargoes, there being two of those now to one the war. England paid G. B. Collins £50,000,000 subsidy, and there never was a bigger scheme. Free ships are a failure and would work min to commerce. Jefferson said that vessels were as essential to a nation as forts. Ten years ago the Ionnage bill would not command twenty votes. Last ear it only lacked five of a majority. The tonnage ax has been equalized by placing raw material for construction on the free list. The Tonnage bill was copied after the French and Italian ideas, which have een successful. They had a yard not equalled in quality in the world, and they would soon be building ships of iron. C. A. Boutelle spoke eloquently on the progress of the Navy. He commented Dingley and Frye's work, and complimented the Bath Iron Works highly. He then related the history of the American Navy. first ships were from English designs. Now we can beat their models, make our own machinery, and use our own material. In six years we beat the best forges of Europe. The Bethlehem Iron Works has no equal. Rehabilitation of the Navy means rehabilita-tion of the merchant marine. As chalman of the Naval Committee, he has a functus officio, but Mrs. Partington never undertook such a job as sweeping back the shipping sentiment.

SMUGGLED GOODS PACKED IN MUSIC BOXES. Two German music-boxes arrived on the Fulda

scently, consigned to the care of Hensel, Brackman & Lorbacher. They were invoiced as merchandise and were taken to the Public Stores in the regular course of business. When the officers came to examine them they found that the boxes would not work and sent them down to the scizure-room of the Custom House to be examined. On their being opened yesterday the reason for their failure to work became plain. Packed in each box under the machinery were found several yards of fine silk, some German lewelry, a dozen pairs of gloves, some handkerchiefs and odd trinkets. idea was a clever one, for no one looking at the hoxes would have dreamed for an instant that they contained anything but the ordinary apparatus of a music-box. Hensel, Brackman & Lorbacher are Custom-House brokers and the customs agent of the German Gor rnment at this port. They are in no way involved in the attempt to smuggle. The condition of affairs at the Public Stores is improving daily. There are now only 7,585 packages in the Stores themselves and 1,043 in the West-st, building. Complaints have stopped coming in and there is every reason to believe that no more trouble will be experienced until the rush of goods for the next season. By that time arrangements will doubtless have en made for handling the packages properly The conference of local appraisers, which was to djourn yesterday, is still in session. It will probably complete its work to-day, however. A large number of important questions have been settled and the ap-praisers feel well satisfied with their work. Appraiser Leavy, of San Francisco, will remain in the city for some time to consult with the General Appraisers and look after other customs matters.

EVIDENCE INCRIMINATES ALL THREE.

IDENTITY OF THE MAN WHO KILLED MRS. DU-SCHEL NOT YET DISCOVERED.

New evidence was secured yesterday in the case of he mysterious murder of Mrs. Johanna Duschel near White Plains on Sunday night. Charles Wright, a baker, and Miss Smith, a companion, have informed ithorities that they met Duschel and his wife in the woods near the Harlem Railroad track three miles from their home, a few minutes before 1 o'clock on that day. In conversation last night both Josephine and Mary Duschel, the eight and twelve year old daughters of the murdered woman, said Roberts was with their father when they met him about eight hundred feet from their home on Sunday after ien minutes before they found their mother dead. Duschel admits that he and Roberts left the place ut a short time previous to this.

At the sheriff's office last night George Stephens Duschel, six years old, who found his mother dead ipon the sofa, said when walking from the barn, about 100 feet down the hill from the house, that he saw two nen running through the orchards, which course would ring them directly upon the road on which Duschel and Roberts met the girls. Before seeing the two men he says he heard two pistol shots. He didn't think anything wrong but walked around the house and when going in the rear door he saw Robinson, the negro, putting a pistol his pocket, just as he was going in his room in anther part of the house. The latter fact was not related before. Both Josephine and Mary say it was about half-past 5 when they reached home

Chief of Police Bogart and Deputy Sheriff Acton say othing was said about the colored man when they distinct Duschel's at 8 o'clock. Bogart remembers dis tinetly that Duschel told him his wife had been shot, but did not tell by whom, neither could he show any evidence to substantiate the fact. The bullet wound in the corner of the left eye was not discernible. Coroner Drews and his jury will have an intricate case to seitle

THE INVESTIGATION AT HARRISBURG.

PARTISAN PURPOSE OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL -THE SCHOOL FUND MATTER. Harrishurg, Penn., Oct. 21 (Special),-To-day's session of the Senate was rather interesting, not from the fact that any new evidence whatever was introduced, but because the Attorney-General showed plainly his partisan animus and unique conception of modern law. Despite the fact that he felt called upon to state today on at least six different occasions that he "wa present not to conduct any investigation but merely to assist the Senate," he monopolized almost the entire time. When the Senate was called to order he preented, with an attempt at dramatic effect, the correspondence which had passed between Treasurer Boyer, State Cashler Linezy and John Bardsley. These letters have all been printed again and again and contained not one atom of new evidence. They showed clearly that the Treasurer had performed conscientiously and faithfully the duties of his office. He next turned his attention to the payment of school funds by the Commonwealth to Philadelphia, his object being to prove that Mr. Boyer paid the last apprepriation to Bardslev sefere he should have done so. Ignoring the latest rulings of the court on this point, the Attorney-General proceeded to read the old laws on subject. Rufus E. Sharpley, one of the torneys, protested and said that the Attorney-General had made a running argument throughout this investi gation which, to say the least, seemed inconsistent with his reiterated declarations that "this was not his case." The chair ruled that no argument whatever could be made until the evidence had all been taken. This evidently disgusted the Attorney-General, who then tried a new plan. He announced that he would like to read from the proceedings of the Legislative Investigating Committee certain sentences relating to Mr. Boyer' testimony on the payment of the school funds. This again proved too much for Mr. Shipley to endure. He said: "There is no justice of the peace in any backsaid: woods district of this State who would for a second tolerate such an filegal proceeding. To take a sentence here and there from a mass of testimony may give a most erroneous idea of the whole affair." The reading clerk was instructed to read the entire testimony gives by Mr. Boyer. This lasted an hour. Lieutenant-Governor Watres showed his non-partisanship strikingly it he morning proceedings by calling to the chair for full half an hour Senator Sloan, a strong Democrat.

At the afternoon session, Mr. Boyer was placed on the stand, and the Attorney-General brought out the fact from Boyer that he had taken the $425,000 school warrant to Bardsley in Philadelphia last December, and that he had done so to prevent the money from going into the Sinking Fund and crippling the General Fund, and this was regarded at the time as a good piece of financiering for the State's benefit.

The Superintendent of Education, Mr. Stuart, testified that he had made out the school warrant for Mr Boyer to take to Bardsley at Boyer's request, and that it was unusual to pay this warrant in December. The next witness, however, Secretary Halliwell, of the Philadelphia Hoard of Education, rather crippled Hen-sel's school-warrant point by testifying that the school year in Philadelphia begins on January 1, showing that Boyer had not paid the money prematurely.

THE TRANS-MISSISSIPPI CONGRESS. Omaha, Oct. 21.-In the Trans-Mississippi Congress to-day the Committee on Resolutions reported, and reso lutions were adopted calling upon Congress to save the mineral-bearing lands in the grants to the railroads from those corporations; demanding that United States and urging the completion of the jettles at Galveston Upon the silver question there were three mports, all of which were laid over for future discussion.

GAS MEN IN CONVENTION.

The American Gue Light Association held its second ession at Scottish Rite Hall, Twenty-ninth-st. and Madi son-ave., yesterday afternoon. The special committee which was appointed to report on the advisability of making an exhibit at the World's Fair made an adverse re recommending instead individual exhibits.

The Astociation Council as re-elected yesterday is com-posed of C. H. Nettieton, of Birmingham, Conn.; James somerville, of Indianapolis; A. W. Littleton, of Quincy, Ill.; F. Eyne, of New-York; J. B. Crockett, of San Francisco; J. B. Humphries, of Lawrence, Mass.; John Young, of Allegheny, and Irwin Butterworth, of Columbus Nettleton read a paper on "Leakage." Clark, of Philadelphia, read a paper entitled "Motor Rents," and Dr. Wilkinson, of this city, closed the meet-ing with an address on "Lime."

Last night the members of the association, with their wives, were taken to the theatre, and to-day they will have a banquet at the Manhattan Athletic Clubhouse.

THE ANTHRACITE OUTPUT.

The month of August left nothing to criticise. The presidents held that month's output to the tonnage agreed upon by the sales agents. September ran considerably beyond the agreement. October shows a further slipping away from conservative mining. The sales agents recommended 3 3-4 million tons. presidents did not meet; were they afraid of making themselves the laughing stock of the trade, like the sales agents when they agree upon a tonnage which they know will be exceeded! Is it not about time that some other farce was played? Why should we all pretend to limit the ouput of anthracite when it is perfect "go as you please"? And this in spite of the fact that trade is settling down into dulness with some coal going on old orders mostly. Now let us see how September results figure out:

Prices at tide ... $3 40 $3 60 $3 80 $3 60 Deduct freight and commissions... 195 195 195 195 Net prices at breaker, $1 45 $1 65 $1 85 $1 65

What mining company or individual operator can pay the going rates for royalty and make a dollar at these prices. Of course they cannot except in the ases of the great companies, who make the freight charges cover their profit. Now comes the important question. No better year for the anthrabite trade than the present need be expected. When a market which will take 40 million tons is so handled that no better prices than those of the present year can be obtained for hard coal, then the prospect is serious. Production has been kept at half a million tons ahead of demand to the detriment of profits, and so it will continue, as for three years past, as long as transportation charges cover two profits, one for mining and one for carriage. If but a reasonable charge were made for transportation, the great companies would be anxious for such a price at the pit's mouth as would clear a mining profit; now, with a mining profit in the freights they need not care about it. Suppose that the Coxe and Haddock suits are settled, what will be the fate of the individual operator? With the plain facts of the bistory of the past few years before us; with the results already partly known of a year like the present, favorable as to general conditions, but unfavorable as to profits, with no hope of a change for the better next year, how long can the individual operator stand it? We all know the old story of the bundle of sticks which could not be broken except stick by stick. Will the operators outside the great companies allow themselves to be broken like the sticks one by one, or will they combine and work for fair play?—("Observer," in Coal Trade Journal. When a market which will take 40 millio
